Mr. T. L. Jones, of Natchez, Miss., has practically tested on the steam ferry-boat James Thompson, plying between Louisville and Jeffersonville, his patented combined high and low pressure steam engine, which, upon trial, has proved to have all the advantages claimed for it over the present highpressure steam engine. The invention worked to perfection at the start, without the slightest alteration from the original plan, giving the present highpressure steam engine the great advantage of a vacuum, with but little additional machinery and cost, increasing the speed of steamboats by giving their paddle-wheels three more revolutions per minute without additional pressure of steam, or using more steam than they usually do.

At St. Louis a sharp shock was felt between 1 and 2 o'clock in the morning. Windows and crockery were rattled and in some instances furniture moved. No damage is reported. The wave traveled north and south, and lasted from five to ten seconds. At Cairo hree distinct shocks occurred at 2:15 in the morning. The first and last were quite light, but the second was as heavy as ever remembered since 1841. Furniture was slightly moved, and windows and crockery rattled at a fear-ful rate, but no damage was done, so far as reported. The shocks were distinguished by the absence of vibration or rolling motion, the only movement being a trembling one. It seemed to pass from northwest to southeast. A dull roaring, as of a hurricane, was re-ported by some. The whole time, from first to last, is variously estimated at from thirty to ninety seconds, with a barely appreciable intermission be-tween the shocks. The weather had been sultry for several days, and storms of greater or less severity are reported each day within a circle of fifty miles. Shocks of earthquake are also reported as having been felt at Golconda, Smithland and Paducah, Kentucky, and Cape Girardeau, Missouri.
